

WHERE THE SENIORS ARE . . .

Your 1961 Tiger contains many interesting portraits, portraits of your faculty and classmates which years from now will bring, we pray, very fond memories. Your activities throughout the school year are reproduced for you to relive and enjoy again and again.

Herein, may there also be portraits of the soul and its inner transformations. For the past years the Jesuit Fathers and Scholastics, aided by sincerely dedicated lay-teachers, have endeavored to form Christ in you. May this Tiger recall that, as well as picture this soul-transforming activity. Each activity, each class, each exercise, is but a planned step towards the ultimate goal—"the balanced development of boys into men who are cultured through training in the sciences, humanities, and religion."

Levin J. Elliot, S.J.

REVEREND FATHER RECTOR'S MESSAGE

DEDICATION

1899 witnessed the beginning of Jesuit education in downtown Tampa, with the first class numbering 21.

1960 saw the same institution, on a new campus, opening its doors to 360 students.

As we compare the rosters of years gone by with the names of students now at Jesuit High, we find an interesting resemblance. Coincidence, you might think; but a second glance reveals the true reason—Tigertown graduates, realizing the value of a Jesuit education, send their sons to receive the same.

The progressive strides which Jesuit has taken in the past are due not only to the efforts of the blackrobed Jesuit community, but to those of the greater Jesuit community—including the students, and particularly the moms and dads.

In this our sixty-first year, we dedicate our yearbook as a small tribute to the moms and dads of Jesuit of Tampa.

We present, as best the best of our energies can capture, a year as it flies by, the pictorial review of Tigertown's 1960-1961.

It was a good year.

As individuals and as a school, Jesuit boys did well in sports, in dramatics, in journalism, in speech, and in their studies. In interscholastic competition of every kind, Tigers more than held their own—and more often than not held everyone else's too. Within the school, we merged that fierce competition among ourselves which makes us better with the seemingly incompatible spirit of cooperation and unselfish drive which makes our school great.

The Seniors this year were an interesting class, as individuals and as the Class of '61. Following the precedent they themselves laid down as 3A and 3B last year, the Class of '61 was again the entrepreneur of School Spirit, the bearer of the burdens—and leader in many ventures. From among their number the Seniors chose those who were outstanding in various individual achievements.

THOMAS CASPER . . .
"Tom" . . . Asleep even

AUTUMN

Long, hot days drift into cool nights, the beaches are crowded in evenings with watchers of the once-again spectacular sunsets . . .

The Tigertown campus bursts from ghost town into throbbing micrometropolis—homework and tests, N.F.L. artists, noon Masses and retreats, football games, pep rallies, homecoming:

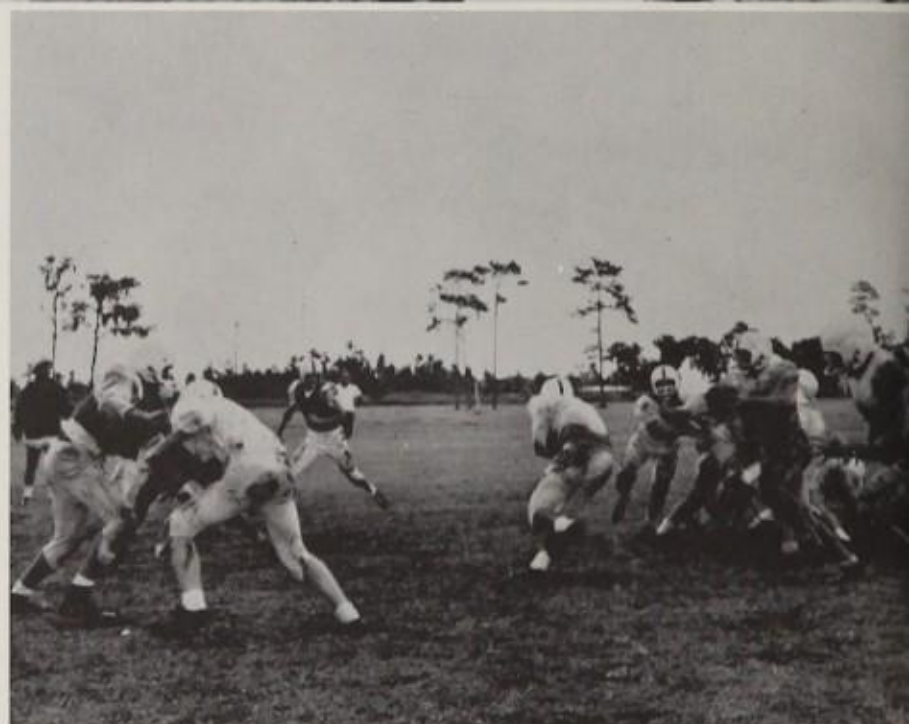

Thus does Autumn descend.

THIS IS FOOTBALL

St. Leo's ties it up.

AN EXCITING SPORT OF THRILLS AND DISAPPOINTMENTS

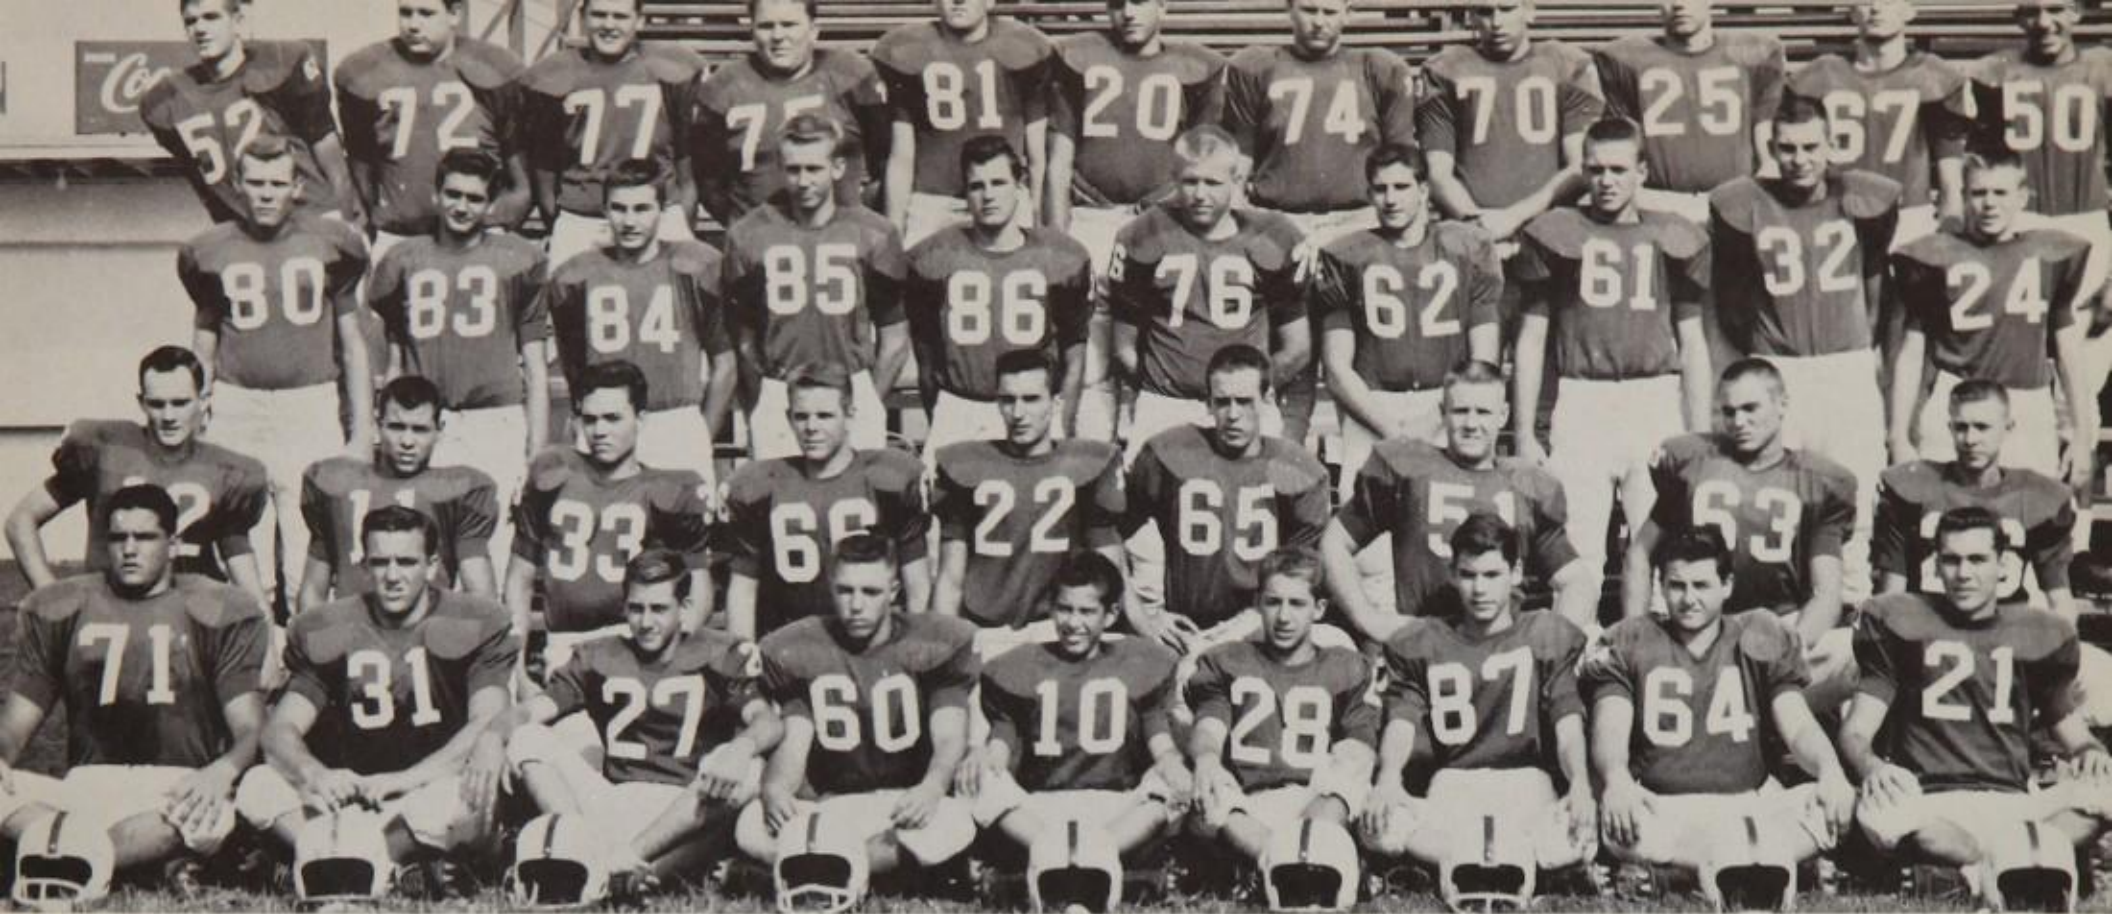

Thrills and disappointments—that sums up four months of grueling gridiron action for the Blue and White Tigers. The record book shows a poor season with only three wins to offset six losses and a tie. But it doesn't tell of the numerous heart-breaking decisions, nor of a myriad of penalties and bad breaks. It doesn't reveal a last minute touchdown scored against the Tigers in the Dunedin contest, an invalid touchdown in the St. Leo deadlock, or the two consecutive interceptions on the part of Palmetto which broke the spirit of the revitalized Blue and White eleven.

The same record book will not boast of the highlights of the 1961 season. It won't tell of a spectacular finish to the Bishop Barry game when the Tigers connected for a scoring pass in the waning seconds nor of a strong rally in the Starke game which fell short by a small margin.

The record book is closed now and memories alone remain to tell of the '61 Tigers' strong points and shortcomings.

At two-thirty every schoolday many freshmen and sophomores wander out to the field house and don their gear. Two to three hours of drilling in fundamentals, running, blocking, and tackling follows; topped off by a fast scrimmage. Once in a while this routine is broken by a contest of ability between this and another such team. There were five such interruptions this year as our junior varsity compiled a 1-3-1 record.

What is more important than the record is the question of how well the JV has succeeded in developing and testing its players for their future roles on the Varsity. Time will tell.

WHO'LL PLAY NEXT YEAR

WHO PLAY FOR FUN

COACH CHRIS FAGOT

The 4A "B" team Duffs, Kneeling: Pizzo, Shea, Berry, Cuddeback, Nicholson. Standing: Garbarek, del Pizzo, Douglas, and Lea.

This year both the senior and junior league championships were won by teams from the "B" division. Going into the finals in each league, 3A was senior "A" champ, 4A senior "B," and 2B had copped both the "A" and "B" championships. The outcome of the finals was taken for granted by many, until 2B's "B" team defeated the "A"; and in a hard-fought four-game series 4A's "B" division Duffs defeated 3A's "A" class Wildcats for the senior league championship.

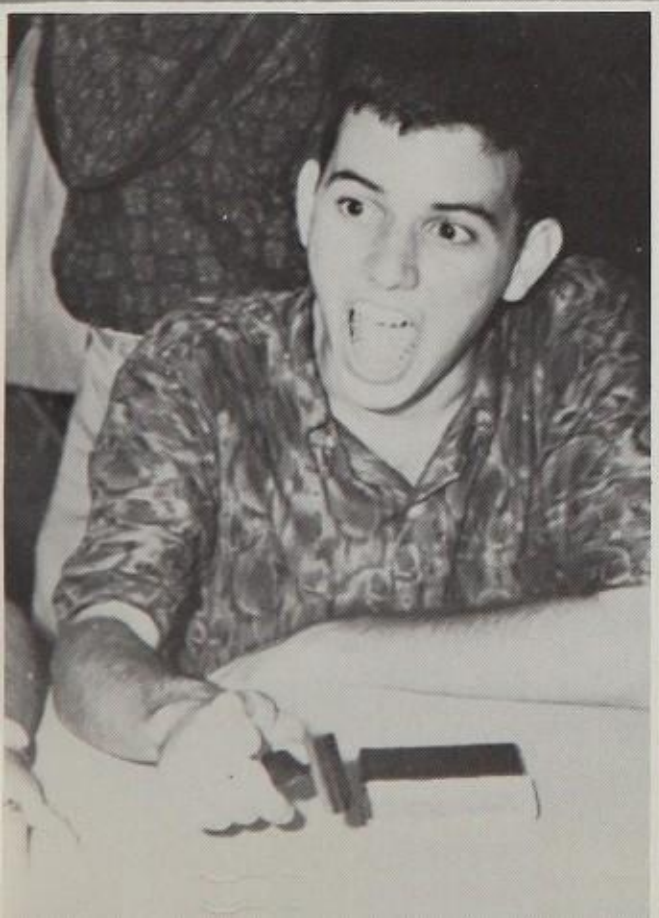

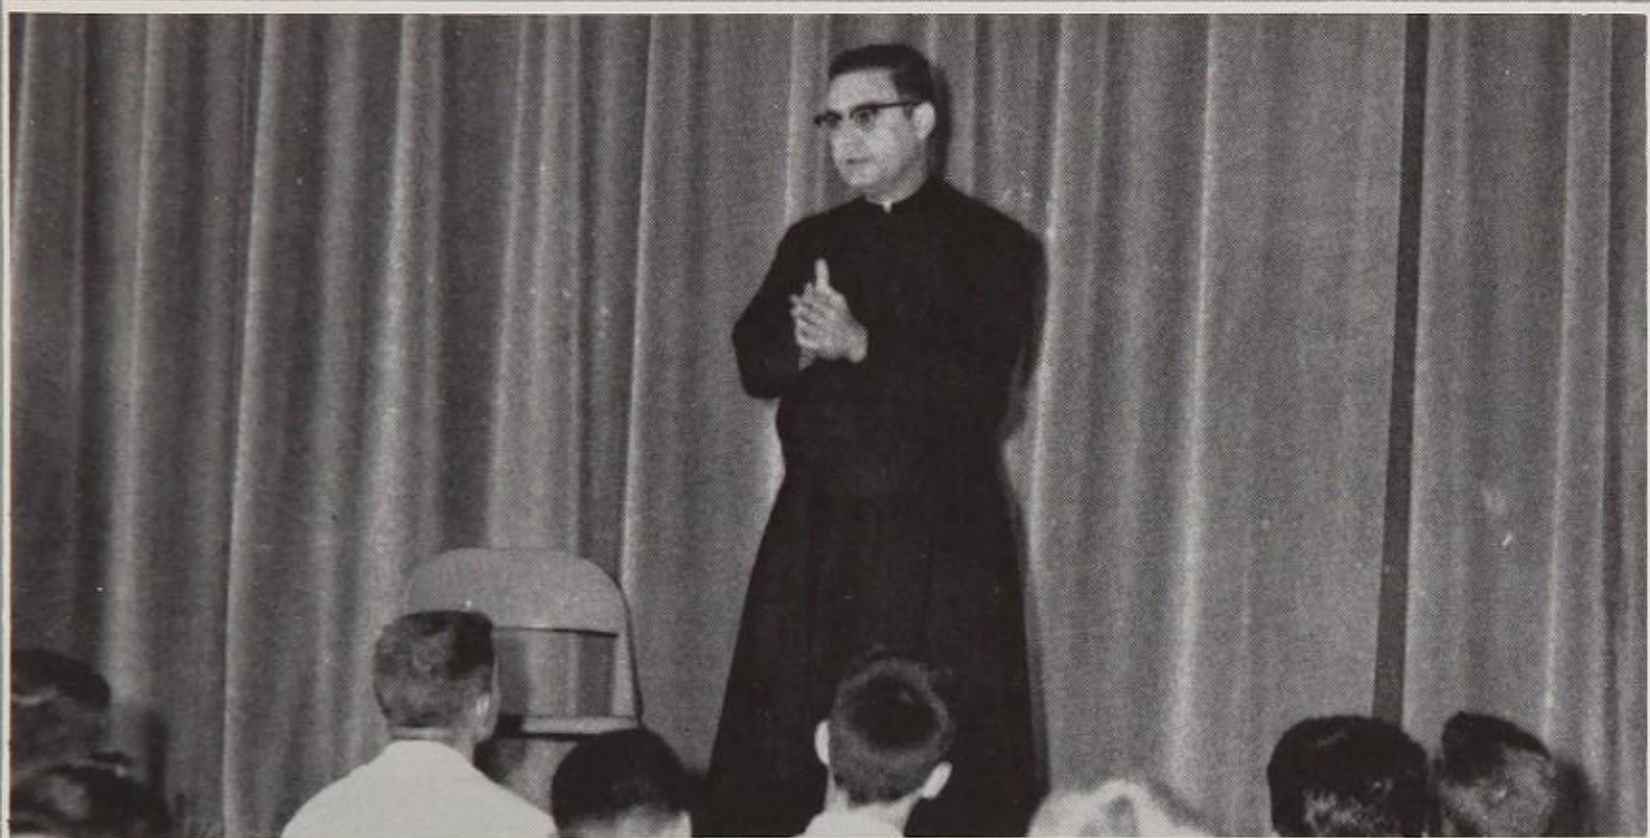

Football starts in a few days; pep rallies are held and school spirit is reborn in the hearts of Tigers. Organizations, such as the science club, revamp for the new year. Father Ban- nin awakens sleeping souls.

Jesuit's cheerleaders prepare for the first game of the year, and hopes are high; then, disaster and dismay at Bartow.

The spirit of the school is down; but a different Spirit, the all-important Spirit pervades the freshman retreat.

Life at Jesuit proceeds with weekly Optimist and Student Council meet- ings, and monthly Sodality gatherings.

Tigertown brightens up to play host to the area's N.F.L. contingents. And then, being unable to bring their guests here, the Optimist Club delivers a party to the girls at Villa Madonna. The bishop speaks, the final football game is played. First Friday Masses are attended, and the pace of Tigertown settles to a steady rhythm.

But suddenly the tempo increases, and with the scream of warriors, Talent Night forces its way into the act. A soap box speech and a phone call are made. The audience roars as a pair of hicks put on a country show.

With the last intramural game, a wild, happy autumn slips from the claws of the Tigers.

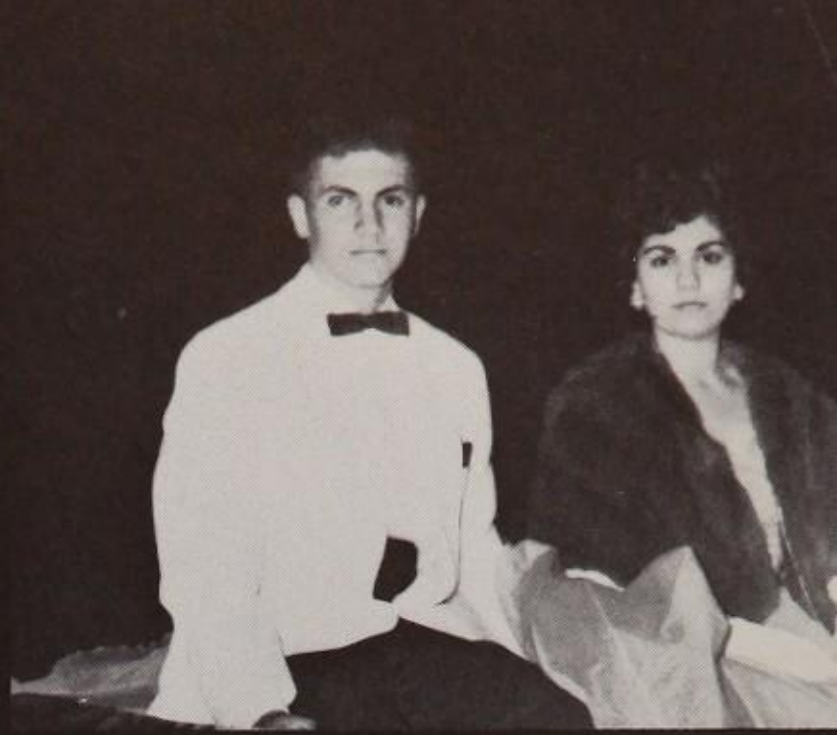

The big night approaches—Homecoming, 1960. The seniors spend the preceding day gathering wood for the traditional bonfire. In a blaze of glory, the fire rages in the cool night. Speaker after speaker arises to bolster the spirit of the already frenzied crowd.

Amid cheers, the Homecoming candidates arrive at the game, anxious, excited, dismayed. The moment of the crowning arrives and our new queen is Miss Claire Mann.

THE NFL — THE GOLD RUSH

Some sophs and frosh, with Tom McGuigan pointing the route to the year's peaks.

This year, a good adjective to describe the NFL at Jesuit would be "novel." The Talking Tigers were led by two new moderators, and over half of the members were freshmen and sophomores.

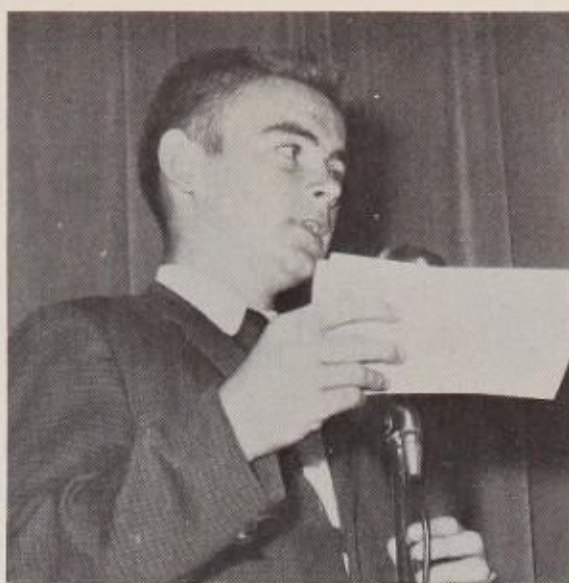

With the few juniors and seniors leading the way, the new Tigers quickly proved they were out to continue Jesuit's old reign as one of the top schools in the state.

During the fall, Jesuit ennefellers climaxed their highly successful congressional season with yet another new touch: John Hatcher in the Senate, Bobby Sanchez in House A, and Tom Sabella in House B, won all the gold medals awarded at the Tallahassee State Tournament, and the right to occupy all of Florida's seats in the National Congress—the first time in Florida's history that a school has copped this triple crown.

Me? Camera shy?

Mark Hoss, always happy at the microphone.

Wright disagrees with Hatcher's third point.

John Fagot—when in doubt, smile.

Two Bobs, a study in contrasts.

Beware: politicians at large.

COLORFUL BLUE CAGERS

A colorful Tiger cage team often held the '61 fans in anxiety until the final whistle, as they copped or surrendered many contests by a margin of but few points.

In posting a 17-8 record, the Big Blue took second place in the Holiday Tournament and third in the city race. Record-breaking, All-City Louis Piniella paced the club with his phenomenal 793 points (31.7 per game). Newcomer Otis DeMott was selected for All-City honorable mention.

Coach Ray Dicharry once again employed his platoon system to develop the basketball cubs into varsity Tigers. In winning 10 and losing 12 contests, many sophomores and freshmen matured into promising material for coming years.

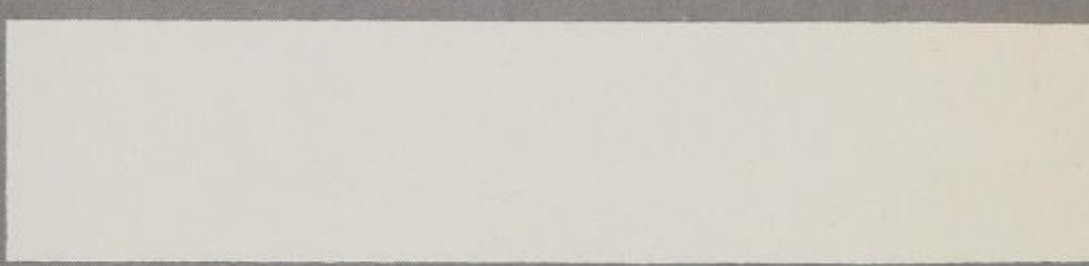

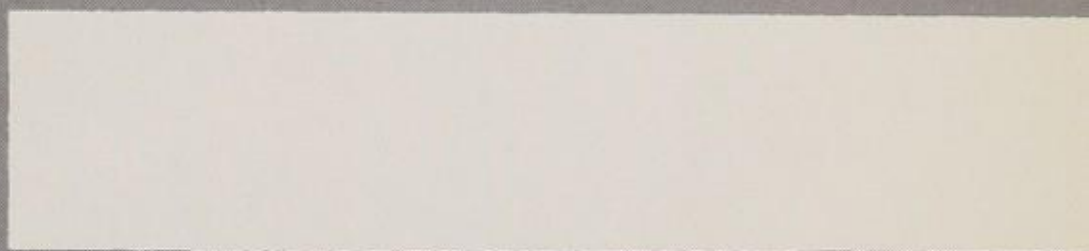

With the progress of winter, work on the new activities center continues apace. So does classwork, and some respond by tying themselves in knots. Promoters of the League of the Sacred Heart meet to schedule spring activities.

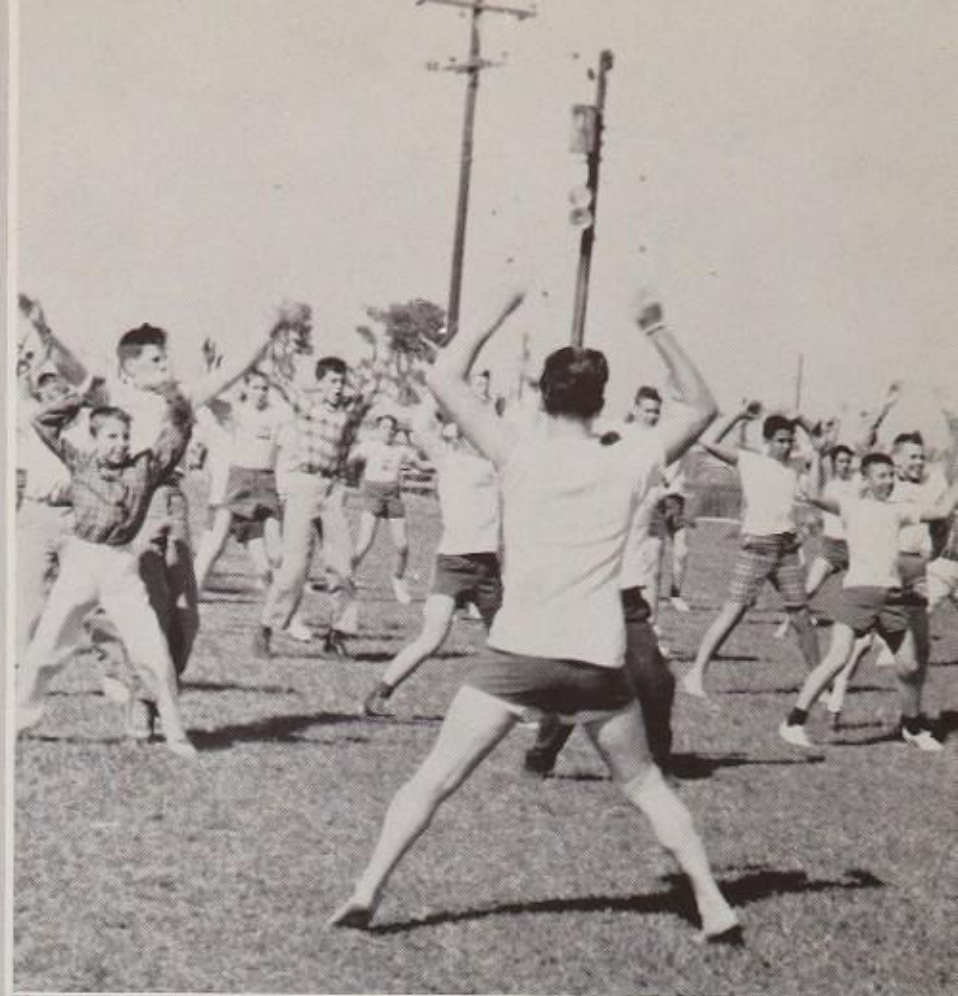

Hardwood Tigers are off and running; large crowds pack the Plant, Hillsboro, and Jefferson gyms to see one victory after another.

Eating, a sport enjoyed by all, is well participated in during lunch hours; while after school, a Christmas party is thrown at Villa Madonna. A late-comer to school rushes down the hall to his first class of the day. Bowling is indulged in after hours.

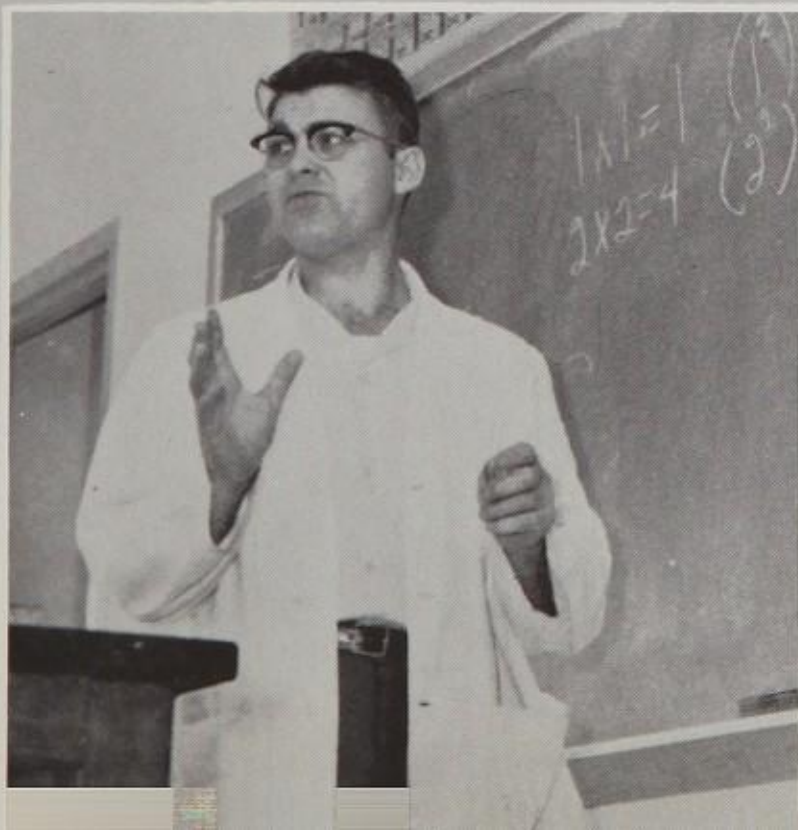

The silence of retreat is broken as the seniors make the way of the cross. At night, trying to observe silence, a lone figure washes a car while, during the day, the retreat master speaks to the juniors.

At the Christmas assembly, an adaptation of the "Littlest Angel" is presented to the students.

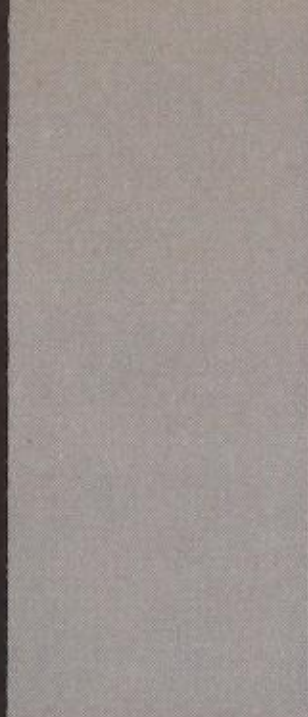

Retreats over, the Optimist Club starts planning its annual Easter party, Phys. Ed. classes once again get into the swing of things, and the seniors and juniors listen carefully to, and in turn quiz, representatives from Loyola and Spring Hill.

December brings a display of glitter, of pomp and pageantry, of soft lights and soft music presented by the junior class. The place is the Hillsboro Hotel, the event the Christmas Formal. Wise-cracks are passed from table to table while some couples dance. The camera-shy at various tables hide as pictures are snapped. One senior comments that he "ain't never seen nothing like it before." As the night wears on, the mood gets warmer; and when the magic hour of 12 arrives, the couples head back to the everyday realities of life.

Must have been posed, Kenny!

With the change of seasons from fall to winter came the change from congressional to all-events speaking. Although some of the faces were different, the pattern was familiar: Talking Tigers continued to take the lion's share of awards at each tournament. The younger members were catching the knack, gathering awards and scoring points.

SPRING INTRAMURALS '61

A long fly ball, a net serve, a 440 run . . . these sum up to the sweet savor of success or the bitter tang of defeat. The track team has only one meet this year. A freshman team wins the intramural track meet. 3A and 4B duel a savage volleyball series, with 3A emerging the victor.

Then the exams begin; it's all over, with only an occasional remembrance of the intramurals '61.

SPIRITED 48

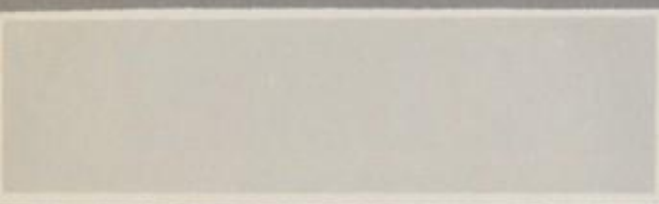

The highlight of spring enneffelling, led up to and followed by smaller contests, was the state meet.

With the nucleus of eight of last year's state squad which had won three gold medals, Jesuit looked like a good bet to cop the team trophy and a large number of individual awards. Then came the well-known disciplinary actions.

The final state squad was young; but the Talking Tigers went to Sarasota determined to show the skeptics they could carry on in the Jesuit tradition. Combining determination with skill, the ennefellers scored a total of forty-eight trophy points, the highest in Jesuit's history. Sophomore Richard Lazzara won the gold medal in oratorical, while Johnny Fagot and Ronnie Busuttil reached the semifinals in dramatic.

Talking Tigers prepare to invade State Tournament.

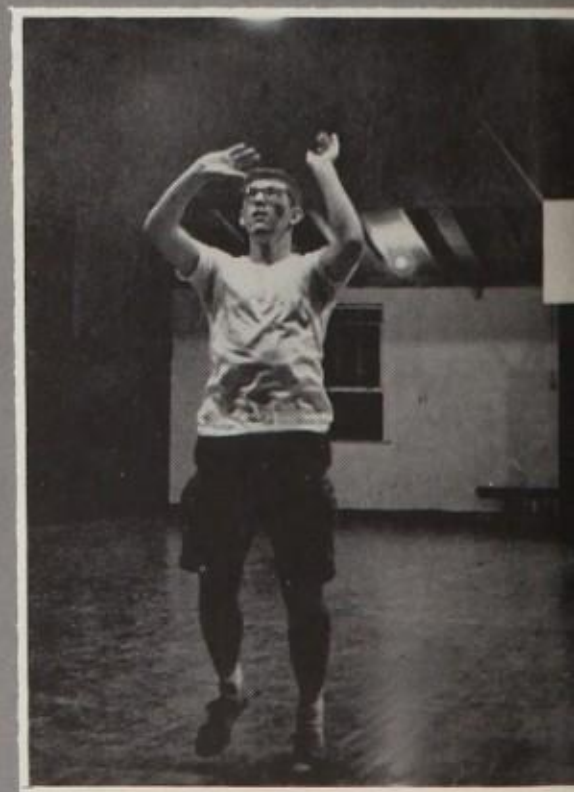

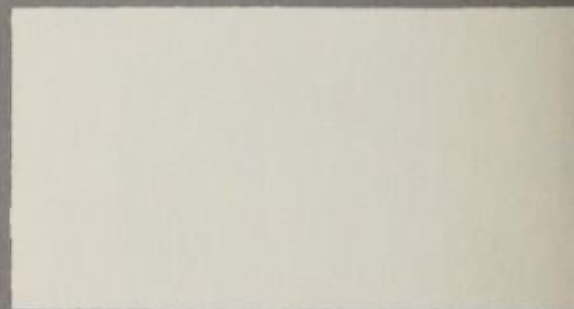

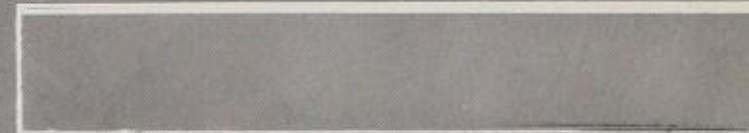

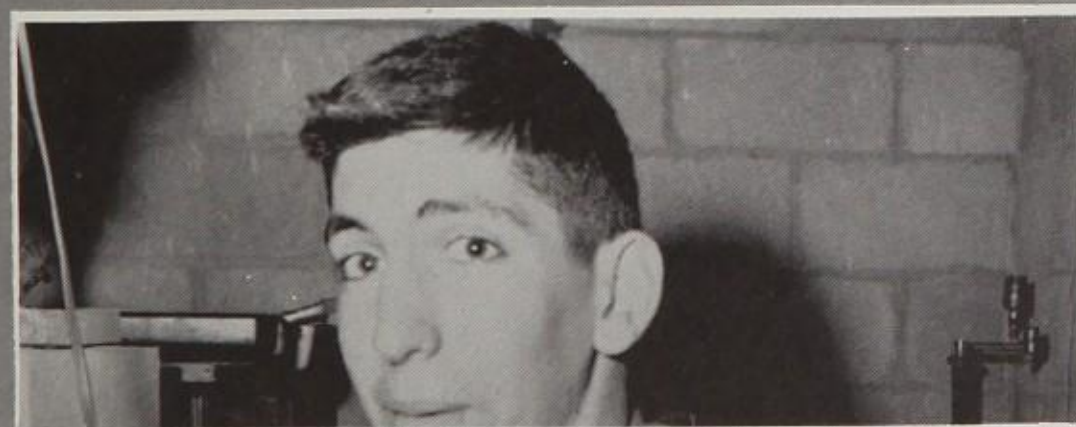

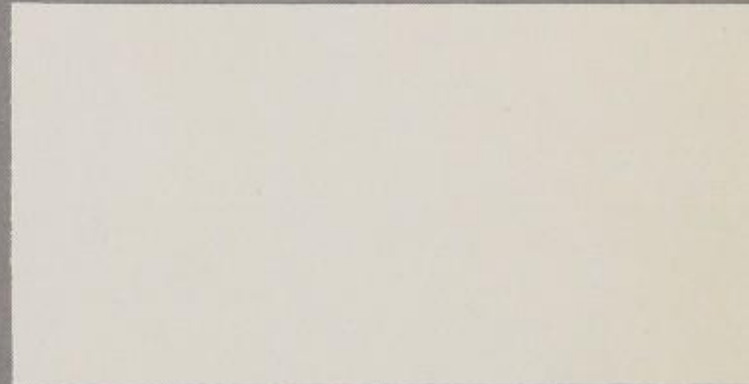

Las Novedades witnessed a full house as the Dads presented their annual fashion show, one which surpassed all previous presentations. Back at the campus, the Ceylon Mission Superior expressed gratitude for the school's contribution. Mary was crowned by the next presidents of the Sodality and the League before a gathering of the student body; the cafeteria was invaded for English honor exams.

The mission drive had brought many innovations—a faculty-varsity basketball game, slave auctions, and target practice, among others.

Music sounded momentarily as a band was formed, then soon disbanded. Fr. Markaitas's sonata was presented in the cafetorium.

A dark-room assignment and a TV dance rounded out the spring.

TWELVE ANGRY MEN

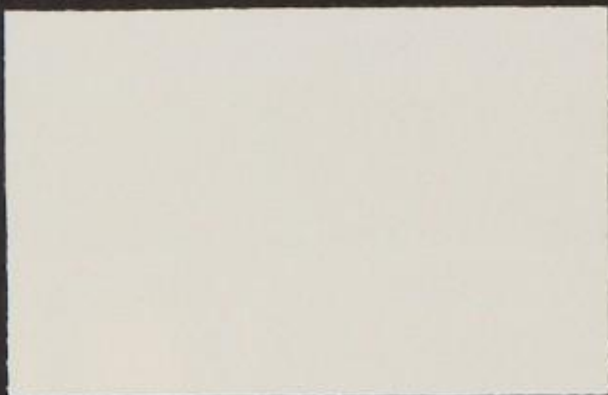

"I hate tough kids!"

This savage outburst by an extremely opinionated sadist, Bob Gallagher, held the key to the Masque Club's Spring Play. The plot portrayed a thoughtful man's (Ken Garcia) efforts to prevent the other jurors from forming their verdict on emotion. Foreman Wes Brockway was easily impressed with authority; Tom McGuigan found it difficult to form any opinions of his own; Bobby Sanchez, a man of wealth and position, was appalled by the emotionalism of the others; Tom Sabella contributed valuable information from his slum background; Mark Hoss flared easily into anger; Richard Berry, a defeated old man, showed courage; Marty Griffin had a deep class prejudice; Bob Fernandez, a European refugee, humbly sought justice; and man Gil Beck thought of people mostly in terms of statistics; while John Imperato guarded the door.

On the patio water splashed in the fountain, while inside 120 couples danced in the shadow of the Eiffel Tower. Dick Crockett's music was soft and dreamy as the '61 Junior-Senior Prom drifted by.

In all too short a time it was 10:30 and the hour for the presentation of favors and awards—Tigers and pins for the seniors, and trophies to notables Pizzo, Paskert, Garcia, Hussey, Grandoff, and Woodard.

In another few, brief minutes during which centerpieces and bombursts were confiscated, midnight and another prom had come and then mysteriously slipped away. Bon Soir.

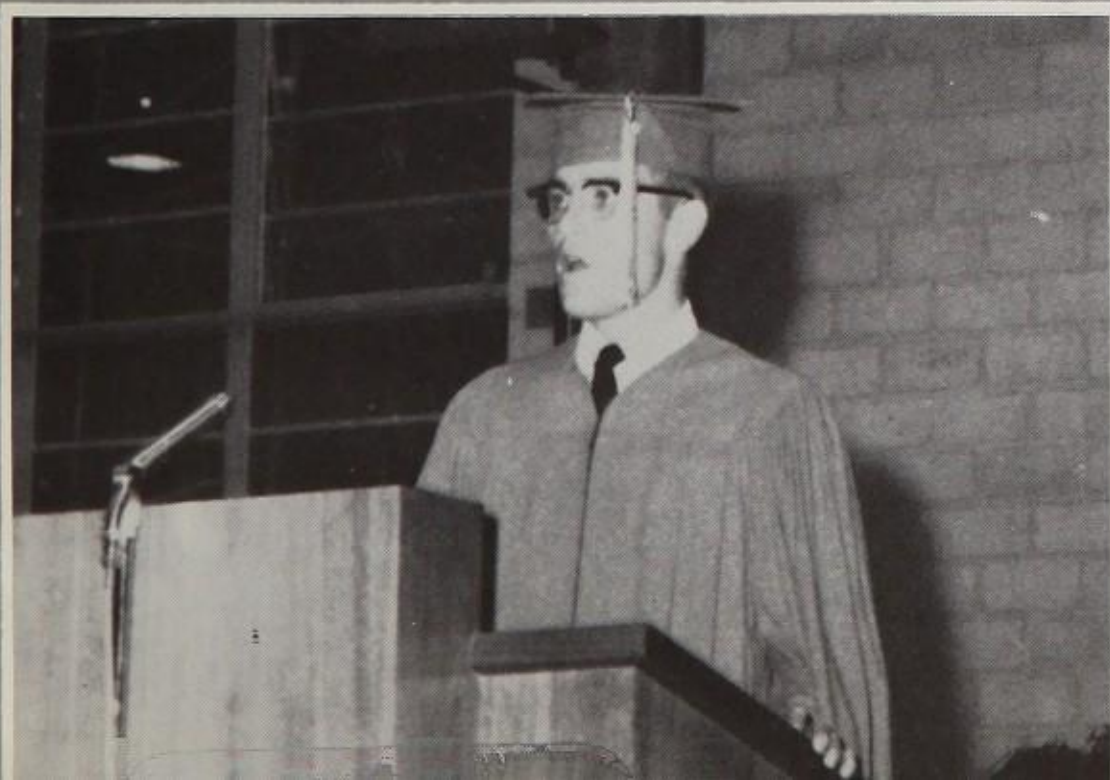

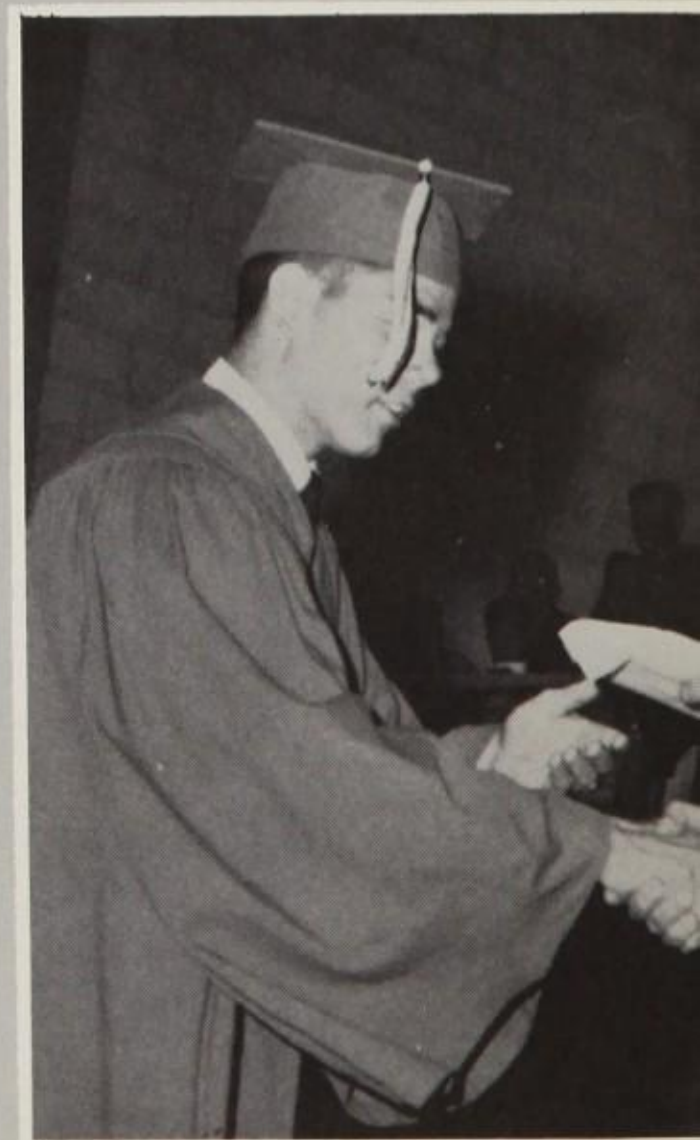

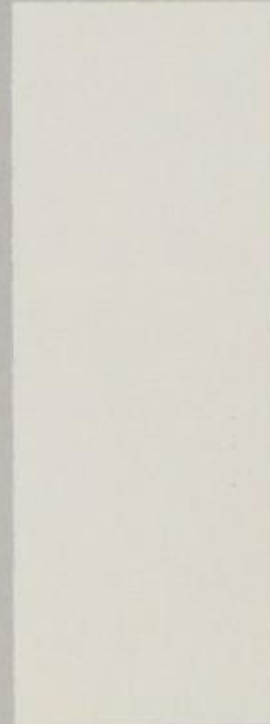

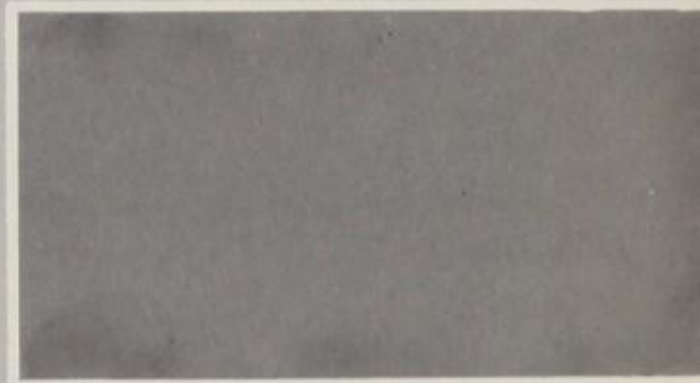

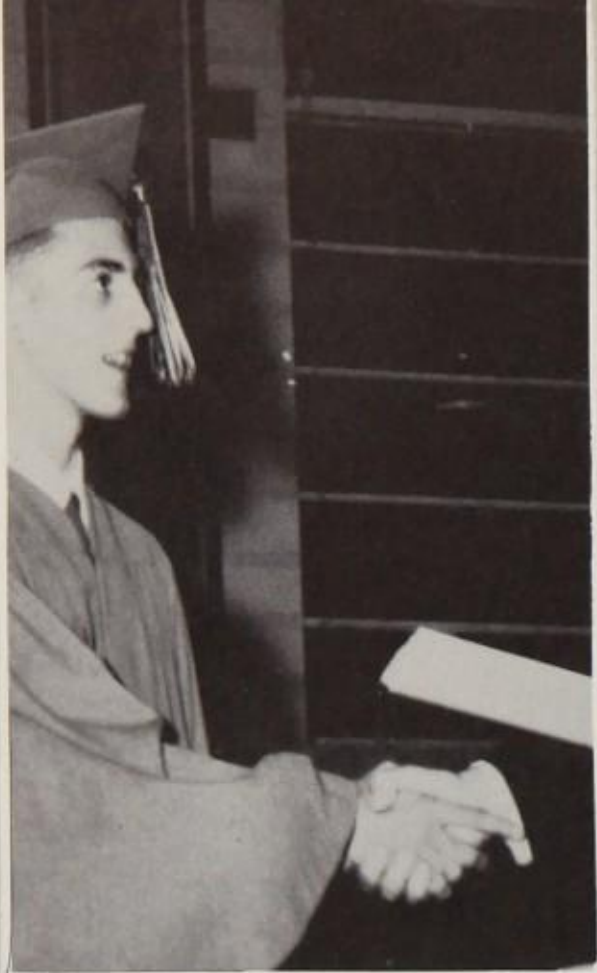

A sermon by Franciscan Fr. Gordion led from the ordinary as the graduates of '61 attended Baccalaureate Mass at Sacred Heart. A breakfast after Mass, and the beginning of the end was felt.

Three nights later, the same group of excited seniors assembled for final orders from Mr. Duffy, minutes before the Commencement Exercises were to begin. Then the long walk. Manny Garcia, winner of the American Legion Award, led the way.

A short speech by John Cuddeback, an address by Dr. Massari, and the big step drew closer.

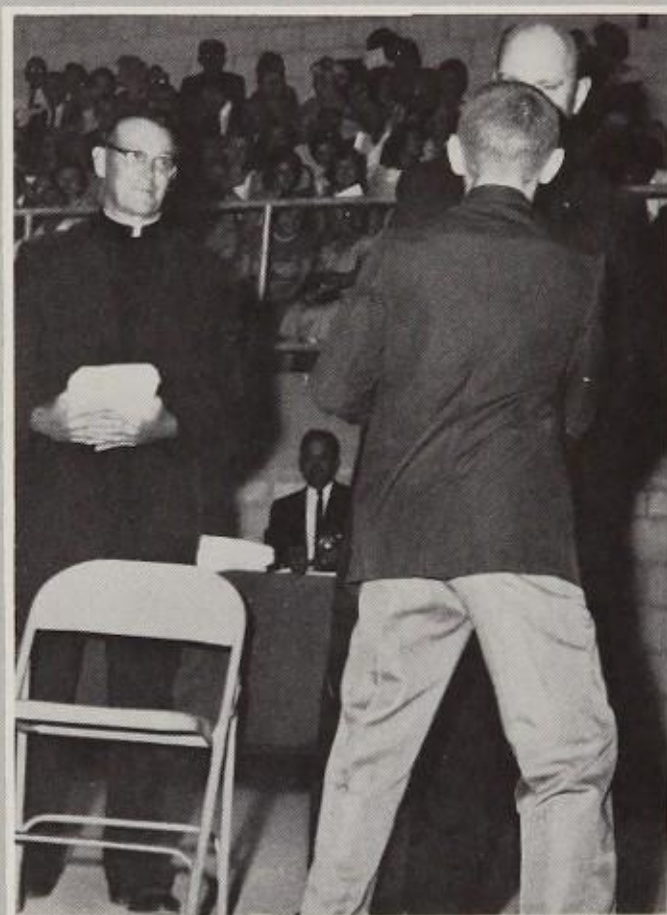

The crowd bursts into applause as each graduate's name is called and he steps forward to receive his diploma. Gold medals are awarded next. Kenny Suarez has been chosen the outstanding athlete; Hatcher and Griffin are the top speakers; Beck is the best in religion and Latin; Berry excels in science and math.

The winners of the English and the Spanish awards are not present. Pet Hodge receives recognition as the outstanding underclassman.

Suddenly, high school is a thing of the past. With a feeling of joy interspersed with sadness, many of the grads and their dates head for a party at the Letter Carrier's Hall.
